SPEAKERS

1. January members night presentations highlight the great knowledge of our members. Lee walked us thru the FVRL bat pack and echometre use. Janne shared photos of dragonflies and other insects seen in 2023. Scott demonstrated our social media sites.
2. February 20th Denis Knopp presented a comprehensive show on speiceis at risk in the Chilliwack Area. SAR range from the huge Rossevelt Elk to minute Dunn Skipper butterfly and elusive phantom orchids. Habitat loss, outdoor recreation pressure and climate change all contribute to species decline.
3. Dr. Christine Bishop is a Research Scientist with Environment and Climate Change Canada will enlighten us about trends in populations of hummingbirds, their biology and her recent studies on pesticide exposure in the birds. She is our speaker for our AGM on Tuesday, March 19 2024.

FIELD TRIPS

1. Our annual winter walk January 20th, after a few snowy days, saw three members find clear walkways and lots of birds in Corbould Park. A Double-crested cormorant, 2 bald eagles, a lone common goldeneye and no less than 67 wood ducks were observed - 29 species in all. Lunch at the Harvest on Mill street followed
2. Browne Creek Wetland, a FVWC restoration site, February 18th had a good turnout. Birds were a little sparse but brown creepers, a common golden eye and 2 American dippers pleased us. Hazel catkins, crocus and a tiny fluted fungus nested in a mossy tree trunk reminded us of the great diversity of nature. Later at the River's Restaurant in Yarrow the seven participants enjoyed a warm meal. We submitted 23 species on our ebird list.

3. Willband Creek Park Abbots is also a restored wetland that also acts as a filtration area for the city's storm water. The Abby-Mission Naturalist club in collaboration with the City has built a viewing stand, upgraded trails and planted native shrubs and trees. Our ebird list had 36 species with Ruddy ducks, marsh wrens and a lone northern pintail included. Red elderberry and hardhack were leaving out. The trip attracted a new member. Welcome Sharon.
